The Sustainable Energy & Environmental Network

Transforming the present and building the future of sustainable energy & environmental stewardship in the Mid-Columbia region • 501(c)3 non-profit organization.

December 2009

Dear Community Member,

The Sustainable Energy & Environmental Network (SEEnet) is looking for partners to support our educational and community programs in the Mid-Columbia. Our programs are designed to assist environmental stewardship and the sustainable development of energy resources and technologies through educational activities, events, networking, tools and information. We accomplish this by focusing on three main areas:

- Environmental education and stewardship: Mid-Columbia Earth Month activities, events and community clean-up projects, interactive resource website, green business networking and mentoring.
- Sustainable technology in the community: Electrathon electric vehicle car race open competition, traveling exhibits that demonstrate basic alternative energy concepts, grant research and submission, speakers and tours of local energy facilities.
- Sustainable technology in the classroom: 5th grade solar car education and competition and high school level Electrathon America rally car race.

Last year SEEnet activities attracted roughly 20,000 participants. This year the demand is even higher for access to these programs. Donations are needed to cover costs of curriculum and classroom supplies, community projects, outreach efforts and operation. Your donation is 100% tax deductible (tax ID #26-4281101).

Support from community members like you is essential to the continued success and growth of these important programs!

To join our team of 2010 Sponsors, please see the attached donation form. For more information about SEEnet programs please visit www.seenetwork.us, and contact us directly at the numbers below if you have any questions.

Thank you for your continued support!

Sincerely,

Gail Everett, Chair
